Journal Citation Reports

Journal Citation Reports (JCR) is a comprehensive database of comparative citation data from over 5,900 science and technology journals and over 1,700 journals in the social sciences.

This database ranks journals within the various disciplines, arriving at an “impact factor” based on data like frequency of citation, number of articles published annually, and “cited half-life.” Citation and article counts indicate how heavily current researchers are using particular titles in a field, and may indicate the quality of a title. By tabulating and aggregating this data, JCR offers a unique set of standards for journal evaluation and comparison.

When you access JCR you can:

- View a group of journals by Subject Category, Publisher and Country/Territory. The default option is Subject Category
- Search for a specific title
- View all journals
- View all journals in the JCR edition and year you selected

To access JCR, see the left sidebar of the Library's home page. Go either to Quick Links, to the Find by Type search (select Database Only and search for Journal Citation Reports) or to the A-Z list of databases.

JCR is available via Remote Access to educational level users.
